First Police and Citizens Together meeting scheduled

GLYNN COUNTY, Ga. – The Glynn County Police Department will be hosting its first “Police and Citizens Together” community meeting on Wednesday, June 1, 2016 from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Brunswick High School Auditorium, 3885 Altama Ave., Brunswick. The goal of the meeting is to prevent crime in specific, targeted areas and improve police services. Meetings will be held monthly in various locations throughout Glynn County over the course of a year.

Residents and businesses are invited to meet the Chief and division managers as key points of contact, review police calls and crime calls in the area, and discuss the ABCs to crime prevention. Participants will also have the opportunity to ask questions during the one hour meeting.

The target area for the first meeting will be the area between Community Road and Forth Street that includes Dock Junction, Bird and Fish Village, East and West Arco, and all other neighborhoods in the vicinity. Information for the presentations will be prepared using the County’s new Spillman Public Safety System which will map police calls and areas where crime has occurred. This new system allows law enforcement to analyze calls and crime in order to better plan priorities, prevent crime, and provide timely responses to incidents.

For more information on Police and Citizens Together, please contact Chief Matt Doering at 912-554-7860 or Assistant Chief Scott Trautz at 912-554-7880.
