New Glynn County website to go live

GLYNN COUNTY, Ga. – The Glynn County Information Technology Department would like to announce the County’s new website will go live today, February 18 at 5:00 p.m. The Glynn County website is one of the most important communication tools that the County uses to keep the public engaged and informed. The new website, which can be accessed at www.glynncounty.org, allows citizens and other interested parties to easily access government information and services. The redesigned website is compatible with tablets and other mobile devices.

Some of the new features include:

- Improved layout and design
- Easier to read and improved navigation
- New responsive design that will resize for any screen, including tablets and mobile devices of all sizes.
- Easier access to the County’s Facebook news feed.
- Improved interactive maps that make it easier for users to view, move, and zoom. A new map feature includes an address finder. New interactive story map apps will be available soon that will assist in finding parks and other county facilities.

The website www.glynncounty.org went live on Civic Plus in 2007. The site was last redesigned in 2011. The county has been working on this most recent redesign since May 2015.
